

(c) University Erlangen,
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131-85-2727

(c) University Erlangen,
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131-85-2727

Psoriasis
of nails

(c) University Erlangen
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131- 85 - 2727

Pustular psoriasis

Pustular psoriasis

Erythrodermic
psoriasis

(c) University Erlangen,
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131-85-2727

(c) University Erlangen,
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131-85-2727

(c) University Erlangen,
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131-85-2727

Erythrodermic psoriasis

Treatment of Psoriasis

A) Topical therapy:

- Corticosteroids
- Tar preparations
- Salycilic acid ointment 3% – 5%
- Vitamin D₃ analogue (Calcipotriol)
- UVB

B) Systemic therapy:

Indicated for erythrodermic, pustular or arthropathic psoriasis

- Corticosteroids
- PUVA therapy
- Methotrexate
- Cyclosporine A
- Retinoids

LICHEN PLANUS

Lichen Planus

* Definition:

Chronic, intensely pruritic disease of the skin and mucous membranes characterized by
Violaceous, flat-topped, shiny, polygonal papules

* Etiology:

- Genetic predisposition
- Immunological abnormalities
- Infections: hepatitis C virus
- Drugs: e.g. antimalarials

* Clinical Picture of classical LP :

- Violaceous, flat-topped, shiny, polygonal papules
- Affects flexures
- Mucous membranes are affected in 30 to 70% of cases
- Itching is prominent
- Deep post inflammatory hyper pigmentation

© CrutchfieldDermatology.com

(c) University Erlangen,
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131-85-2737

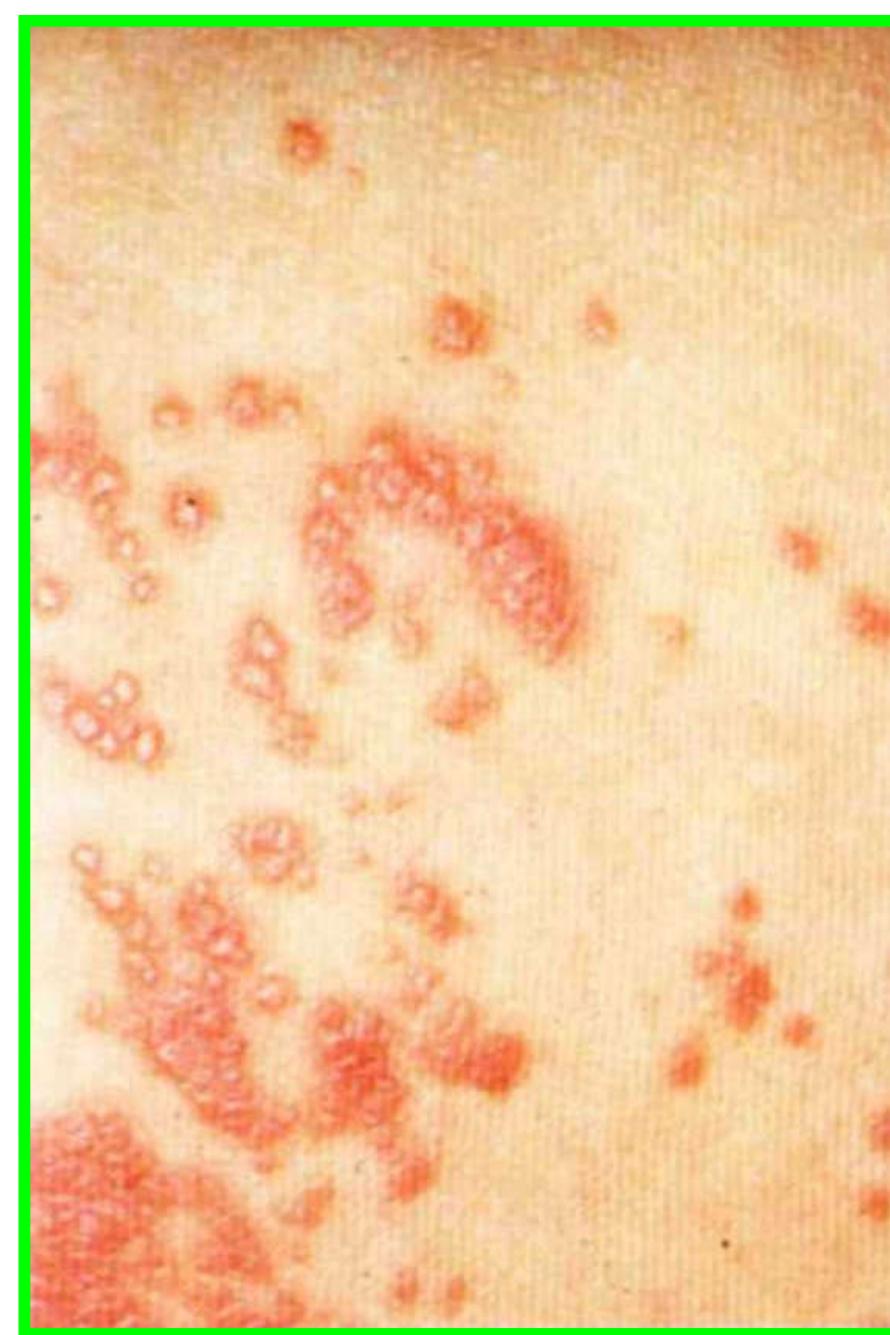

DOIA

(c) University Erlangen,
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131-85-2727

(c) University Erlangen
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131-85-2727

DOIA

(c) University Erlangen,
Department of Dermatology
Phone: (+49) 9131-85-2727

